DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. The Applicants' arguments and amendments filed on June 30, 2006 have been fully considered and are deemed persuasive.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 1-2, 4-6, and 8-37 are allowed. The claims indicated include limitations that the prior arts of record do not appear to teach or render obvious, hence they are allowed.
3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

As presented in the previous Office Action, Leigh (US006728787B1) teaches an environment where the "destination computer reads a device identification and a network address from a peripheral device connected to the destination computer. A device driver, corresponding to the device identification, is then retrieved from the source computer at the network address... The destination computer requests the device driver for the peripheral device corresponding to the configuration of the destination computer from the source computer. The device driver is installed in the destination computer" (Leigh, abstract). Also presented in the previous Office Action, Motoyama et al. (US006915337) teaches of "a novel method, system and program product which updates the device driver of a client computer if it is determined that its version is older and if it is determined that a user desires updating the device driver" (Motoyama, col.3, lines 31-34).

Art Unit: 2145

However, the prior arts of record fail to teach or suggest individually or in combination as stated in the independent claims for "providing a pointer to a location in the addressable memory of the peripheral device at which the network address is stored" and in combination with other limitations as set forth in the independent claims, as well as Applicants' arguments presented on pages 8-13 of the amendment filed on June 30, 2006. In the fore mentioned amendment, the Applicants argued, "in contrast, the cited art does NOT provide a pointer to a location in an addressable memory of the peripheral device but instead appears to read the network address directly from a memory device without regard to being provided a pointer to a specific address in an addressable memory of the peripheral device." (Remarks, pg.11, lines 15-18).

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion
